A DEADLINE REPORT. . .

"One of the 'must' things for the Milam Museum (the old jail) will be a replica of ol' grandfather Tom (to the 5th power), along side a stuffed bobcat which gave him so much trouble.

Deadline is speaking out of the wisdom of catdom and The Cameron Herald, which started about the time her grandfather Tom (to the 5th power) was operating around the ol' Sul Ross place, long ago torn down for the City Park over on East Fourth St.

"We've been discussing the feline's place in Milam history, and it is profound. Some of the cats already spend a great deal of time at the old jail, fat-cat healthy and close to the place where a lot of history will be stored."

Deadline is in accord with the cats around Tex's Place, an appropriate site for Texas felines to eat at, who also see the need for a place in that museum.

"Grandfather Tom came in with some people from Georgia, a mouser of monumental proportions. He was a housecat who earned his keep. He was big enough to think maybe the scrawnier bobcats were his fighting kin."

Deadline paused, musing over a paw pad, and squirming into a more comfortable position in her customary copybasket.

"Grandfather Tom may have weighed almost 20 pounds, from the stories in town and among the scruboaks. When enough people built enough houses, and rats started to appear, Tom was in his maturity let alone his glory in bringing them down."

Deadline gets a little unsettled. Her most recent find was a local lizard, hardly to the standard of her early line. A low-flying bird starts her clacking. She's never seen a rat.

The story goes that grandfather Tom was sauntering in the outer reaches of that old city park one night, by accident coming upon a bobcat considerably larger. It was a ripping good fight, possibly a draw, though they only found Tom. The bobcat escaped, leaving Tom scarred for life.

Deadline stares wide-eyed yellow across the Courthouse Square at the old jail.

"Yes, grandfather Tom was a great mouser, but barely adequate with bobcats. He deserves a place over there for trying and the bobcat for winning. We descendents agree you can stuff all the bobcats you want. But don't use one of us to take Tom's place in the museum."

Deadline sighs: "That would be murder."

WORKMEN continue staking out lines for the new street that is being constructed in the urban renewal extension area. The rubble in the background consists of concrete floors and debris from five old buildings in the area which were torn down. The new street will circle the area scheduled for public use.

Two Injured In Collision At Intersection

Two people were injured in a major collision at the intersection of US 77 and Farm Road 485 Wednesday night about 8 p.m., according to DPS Trooper Milton Wright, who investigated the accident.

Hospitalized in Cameron's St. Edward Hospital were Josefina Reyes and Seferino Ancisco, both of Houston. Ancisco was transferred to Scott and White Hospital in Temple and Reyes was transferred to a Houston hospital Friday.

Ancisco was a passenger in the Reyes vehicle which was in collision with a car driven by Richard C. Thomas of McGregor. Thomas was crossing the intersection at the time of the accident on FM 485.

Thomas, who suffered minor cuts and bruises, was arrested for driving while intoxicated and was placed in jail until he was bailed out by his wife later that night.

Showers Reveal Court Defects

GEORGETOWN

Georgetown school board members and administrators considered April showers timely as they inspected the 10 tennis courts at the new high school. Cameron Native Playing Role In Space Flight

William R. Adams, a native of Cameron, is playing an important role in preparations at the NASA-Marshall Space Flight Center (MSFC) for the upcoming Apollo-Soyuz Test Project (ASTP), the joint U.S.-Soviet manned space mission scheduled for July 15, 1975.

Adams is the manager of Marshall Center's ASTP experiments which will be conducted on the July mission.

A graduate of Yoe High School in Cameron, Adams received a bachelor of science degree in chemistry from Texas A&M University. Employed as an aerospace technoligist at the Marshall Center since 1963, he was co-author of a paper on "Total Chloride Analysis by Liquid Ammonia-Socium Reduction," published by the American Chemical Society Journal.

For the ASTP mission, the Marshall Center will provide the Saturn IB vehicle which will launch a three-man Apollo spacecraft into Earth orbit to dock with a two-man Soviet spacecraft. MSFC is also responsible to varying degrees for 10 materials processing experiments to be conducted during the flight.

Benefit Dinner To Raise Funds For Humplik Child

The Concerned Citizens Committee sponsoring the Keith Humplik Fund Drive have announced their second fund raising project.

On April 27 there will be a benefit dinner served in the Methodist Fellowship Hall. Serving will be from twelve noon until 2 p.m.

Tickets are on sale now at the First National Bank in Cameron and the Citizens National Bank in Cameron, the Camp Insurance Company office, and the Buckholts State Bank in Buckholts. In addition to these locations, a telephone committee will be calling to sell tickets to interested individuals.

All of the proceeds from this dinner will go to the Keith Humplik Fund to help care for the very heavy medical expenses incurred by Keith Humplik over the past months while he was in the hospital.

This is a good opportunity for fellowship with the people of Cameron and to help a very worthy cause at the same time.

Construction Starts On New Downtown Shop

By Lloyd Albertson

Work began last week on the construction of downtown Cameron's newest building in the mall area.

The new facility is located at the corner of North Central and First Street on the site formerly occupied by the old Cameron Hotel which was razed when the Urban Renewal program got under way about three years ago.

The building, one story and ultra-modern in design, is being built by C & D Constructon Company of Waco, which also will be the owner of the property. When completed it will be occupied by one of the company's Jean Marie Dress Shops, and also will have space for two offices.

According to the architect's plan, it will be 40 feet wide and 110 feet in length, and will be brick veneer over concrete block and steel construction. The 40-foot front of the building, facing on First Street and the mall, will feature a wide expanse of plate glass, and it will also be used extensively on the North Central side of the structure which will house the dress shop. One of the offices also will have a wide plate glass window.

The building will be recessed about 20 feet from the curb on its North Central side to allow for an attractive small mall that will include planter boxes.

Cost of construction of the building will be $65,000.

C & D Construction Company, a partnership of J. P. Donahew and L. L. Cooper, has its headquarters at 405 Lacy Drive in Waco andi its exclusive Jean Marie Dress Shops are located in that city, in Temple, Hillsboro, and in other Central Texas cities. The one in Cameron will be the newest in their chain.

Plans call for construction of the new building to be completed in 90 days, weather permitting. And a target date of June 1 has been set for the opening of the dress shop, although work on the office space may not be completed at that time.

Donahew is in charge of construction. He is admittedly enthusiastic about the new enterprise.

"We were very favorably impressed by the location here," he said, indicating the mall, "and also by the city of Cameron."

Selective Service Ends Register For Young Men

Eighteen-year-olds no longer have to register for the draft, following President Ford's proclamation that terminates present registration procedures for the Selective Service System.

Col. Melvin N. Glantz, state director for the SS System, said the edict went into effect April 1. This is the first time since August 31, 1948 that men will not be required to register.

Glantz said that although registration is being terminated a t this time, new procudures providing for periodical registration are being developed and will be tested at a later date.

The SS System will continue to carry out its mission on a "stand by" basis and will continue to classify men in accordance with current regulations, and maintain a "pool" of available manpower for the military as a part of the overall Emergency Preparedness Program of the nation.

Glantz pointed out that Selective Service has sufficient men registered and classified to continue the first priority selection groups through the end of 1976. The first priority selection group for 1976 will be those men who were born in 1956. These are the men who would be called first should Congress renew the induction authority because of a national emergency.

Bermuda Triangle Baffles Experts

LONDON

Reuter--A flight of U. S. Navy planes disappear without a trace. So does the aircraft searching for them.

A yacht is found at sea with sails set and a meal on the cabin table, but the entire crew have mysteriously vanished. A Navy supply ship with 307 people on board is never heard of again--it never radios for help.

Pilots report their compasses moving erratically and they are losing control of their aircraft. They tell of a wierd green glowing light on the wings. Ships lose their way within sight of land on a clear day.

It all happens in the Bermuda Triangle--a section of the Atlantic Ocean stretching roughly between Bermuda, the tip of Florida and Puerto Rico with an alarming record of unexplained ship and aircraft disappearances.

Author Charles Berlitz in his book "The Bermuda Triangle" just published here confronts the traveller passing through that sunny part of the world with the prospect of doom through the supernatural.

It's enough to make the passenger on a Miami-bound flight foresake his serving of cold airline chicken or cause a tourist to default in a game of shuffle board aboard a cruise liner.

A sudden freak storm or a colossal wave might destroy his ship. Failing that, strange electromagnetic forces might force his plane into the sea or make a yacht lose its way.

Then, too, possibly affecting insurance premiums on holiday excursions, Berlitz reports theories that transport might be consumed by a fireball or even gobbled up by a sea monster related to Scotland's Lochness monster.

More serious consideration, however, is given to the risk of being carried off by flying or high speed submarine craft from another world whose beings may have destroyed themselves eons ago and are anxious to prevent modern man from doing likewise.

Berlitz, grandson of the founder of a chain of language schools, also explores the possibility of planes and ships disintergrated by a laser beam blast from a civilization now relegated to the ocean bed.

A work of reference, Berlitz covers most of the risks in his 195-page book, citing works with titles such as "Limbo of the Lost," "This Baffling World," "Flying Saucers on the Attack," "The Bible," "Catacysms of the Earth", and "The Space Ship of Ezekiel."

He quotes Coast Guard surveys which blame environmental and human errors for the history of disasters in the triangle.

This does not satisfy Berlitz. Logcial explanations are not forthcoming and so he explores the alternatives.

A student of Unidentified Flying Objects (UFOs) in the United States, John Spencer, is quoted for this explanation for the disappearances: "Extraterrestrials periodically visit earth and kidnap men and equipment to ascertain the state of our technological advancement."

The triangle's past history is eerie.

What about Flight 19 of Navy Avengers with five officers and nine crew members? It left Fort Lauderdale, Florida on a training mission on December 5, 1945 and the weather was perfect. About 90 minutes later flight leader Lieutenant Charles Taylor radioed back with an emergency: "We seem to be lost. . .strange. . .we can't be sure of any direction--even the ocean doesn't look as it should. . ." The planes were never found. A search plane also vanished.

Another case: June 5, 1965, a C-119 flying boxcar with 10 people on board disappears in the southeast Bahama Islands.

Chuck Wakeley, a former pilot with Sunline Aviation in Miami, Florida, returning his charter flight from Nassau to Miami in November, 1964 reported seeing a strange pale blue-green glow on the wings which grew in intensity until it blinded his controls for five minutes.

The yacht Cinnemare IV is found abandoned 400 miles southwest of Bermuda in September 1955. The same fate befell the 62-foot Maple Bank on June 1969 and there are more.

A Cuban freighter, the Rubicon, is found deserted at sea off Florida in February, 1940, with only a hungry ship's dog on board.

Berlitz notes that the triangle has something in common with the so-called "Devil's Sea" off the east coast of Japan.

How Much More Too Late?

The President asks for about $1 billions for a combination of military and humanitarian aid to Southeast Asia.

Sen. Edward Kennedy earlier said he would support all humanitarian aid, but nothing in military for the crisis areas of Southeast Asia.

Congress is not likely to appropriate much more for military supplements except where proof is shown that American evacuation is necessary and where delaying action is necessary to give Saigon bargaining time with Hanoi.

The President will not get much if anything for Cambodia. And he will be fortunate if the combined House-Senate approves an earlier $300 millions for South Vietnam.

Kennedy has made it clear he favors humanitarian needs. Henry Kissinger wants funding for South Viet staying power until some kind of Saigon coalition emerges. The President wants both.

The public? Americans are taking orphaned Vietnam children by the jetload. That's the way we are. But youngsters of 18 are no longer subject to the draft here, following the deaths of more than 50,000 there.

The public? Americans are out of the fighting, yet feel some responsibility for the floundering South Viets, not the Saigon regime as it falters.

Gerald Ford will find it impossible to reform public opinion around Vietnam, even for humanitarian purposes. For an effort to save American nationals, there will be support.

Over To You, John Q.

"It was not unachievable" as House Speaker Bill Clayton put it, it was the 30 new House members who broke the impasse which kept a Texas Constitutional proposal from clearing the legislative convention last summer.

Now Texas voters will get a chance to read the proposal as the first new constitution in 100 years for this state. And if they like it, it will replace the antiquated, verbose, 19th century instrument which reads like a book of ordinances.

Last summer the combined House-Senate legislature sat as a constitutional convention and parlayed this-for-that technics just three votes short of getting this proposal to the Texas public.

Reports say it is almost precisely what failed last summer and substantially what was outlined by a constitutional revision commission to the Convention.

John and Joanna Q. Texan, now more than 12 and a quarter million of him, and her, will have the last word.

It if is bad, it's back to the drawing board, which would mean a convention outside the legislature. If it's good, Texas will have a new constitution in the nation's bi-centennial, which the odds, emotional and rational, favor.

'Highway Of Death' Is Australia's Murder Road

Lotus Creek, Queensland Reuter--This tiny and dusty community, little more than a filling station and cafe, stands at the center of what has become known as Australia's "Highway of Death."

Long littered by the corpses of kangaroos mesmerized by headlights, then struck by cars at night, the 250-mile section of highway between the cities of Rockhampton and Mackay has in the last nine years become infamous for violent deaths.

Since 1966, five people have been murdered along the lonely stretch of road. Others have been wounded, accosted, and robbed.

Australia's minister for northern development, Dr. Rex Patterson, has admitted that he always carries a loaded rifle beside him when driving north to his home in the sugar-growing center of Mackay.

The latest victims were Noel Weckert, 36, and his 28-year old wife Sophia. They set out to drive overnight to Rockhampton, where Weckert was to officiate in a sky-diving exhibition.

Near Lotus Creek, a truck driver next day saw a parked car with blood dripping down a door. Inside was Weckert, shot twice in the head.

The body of his wife was found in bushland near the highway 60 miles to the north. She had been shot in the back of the head. What made the Weckerts halt on this desolate road was not immediately known.

Police suggested that the couple did not know the highway's bloody reputation.

The macabre recent history of the highway of death, set amid gumtrees and bushland with blue hills on the horizon, began in June, 1966.

About 30 miles from where Weckert's body was found nearly nine years later, two men were shot dead as they slept in their car. Their bodies wee wrapped in wire netting and dumped in a creek.

Two men subsequently were convicted of their murder and sentenced to life imprisonment.

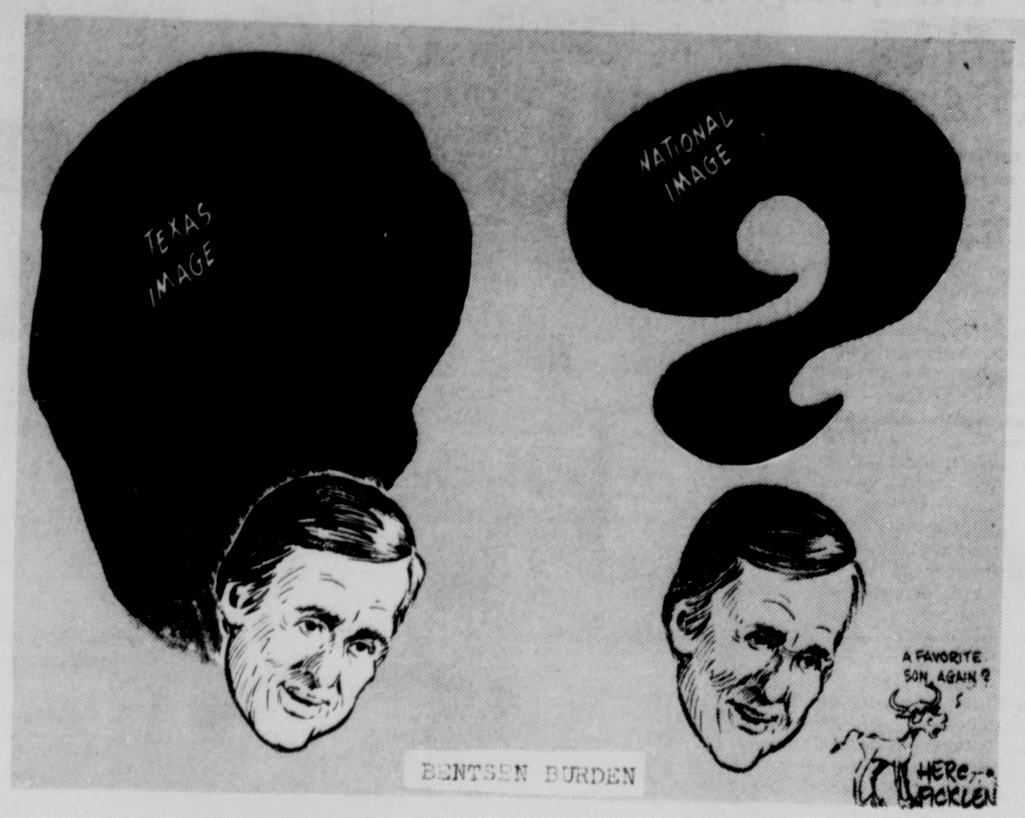
Months later, a man was killed when a gunman opened fire on a man sleeping on the ground beside the car and on two men inside.

In another incident, a man was shot in the back, his wife in the shoulder.

Since then there have been other assults.

The dearth of police in a sparsely populated area is one factor in the spate of crime, local people say.

Some people suggest you stamp a letter upside down to insure a speedy answer.



Vietnam's Impact Baffles Officials

WASHINGTON Reuter--Top Ford administration officials are baffled about the stunning retreat of government forces in South Vietnam, helpless to do anything about it and deeply worried about the impact on America's allies.

Their only hope is that somehow President Nguyen Van Thieu will manage to put together a defense line of his retreating toops to keep Saigon from falling and also protect the rice-growing Mekong River delta aganist a communist attack in the next 30 days.

But the officials are pointedly failing to volunteer any optimistic prophecies about the future safety of Saigon--an uimaginable situation only a few weeks ago.

"Whether or not a line can be stabilized north of Saigon to permit the areas around Saigon and in the delta to continue is something that remains to be seen," Defense Secretary James Schelsinger said.

He added that: "If the North Vietnamese continue to move forces to the Saigon area, that would be a very severe test of the forces remaining to the government."

Other Pentagon officials discussing the rout of the South Vietnamese in the northern and central provinces say a retreat takes on a life of its own and becomes uncontrollable except through an immense effort of internal discipline.

They refer to a major retreat of Allied forces in the face of a Chinese advance during the Korean war--a retreat which was finally halted.

The big question was whether the South Vietnamese troops, now apparently in total disarray, could do the same--and no-one here was prepared to predict that they could.

Congress, which has been asked for $300 million in additional aid for South Vietnam, remained on its Easter recess and those congressional figures remaining in Washington gave no sign of enthusiasm for the request.

How the collapse of South Vietnam is affecting America's allies around the world is the subject of considerable disagreement here.

Administration officials, from President Ford and Secretary of State Henry Kissinger down, are pessimistic about the impact.

They have revived the long-dormant "domino theory" that one communist success in southeast Asia will be followed by another and city Thailand's proposal that U.S. forces shold be pulled out within a year.

They believe doubts about U.S. reliability could push Turkey, on the eastern rim of Atlantic alliance, with a common border with Russia and currently cut off from U.S. arms supplies by a congressional decision, into changing its attitude to the west.

They also worry that Portugal's leftist rulers may be encouraged to press strongly ahead with their policies despite Dr.Kissinger's fear that the forthcoming elections there may be a sham.

But some senior diplomate and press commentators are wondering if the administrations's fears may be exaggerated.

They say the U.S. commitment to the defesne of Europe and peace in the MIddle East is firm, nothing is expected to change in southeast Asia outside Indochina--and that Vietnam is a special case with little broader significance.

New Policies Set For GI Loans

New GI loan policies that apply to all veterans with military service since the start of World War II make more than 20 million veterans eligible for the Veterans Administration guaranteed home loans.

Among them are more than 4 million veterans whose GI loans have been paid in full, VA Regional Director, Jack Coker, said today. Those who have never used their eligibility are still eligible even though they might have been out of service more than 30 years. Also potentially eligible for new loans are those veterans with current loans outstanding. The only condition for restored eligibility is that the first loan be paid off and the home be disposed of.

In addition to broadened eligibility rules, new legislation approved by the President on December 31, 1974, raised the maximumportion of a loan VA is allowed to guarantee from $12,500 to $17,500 and made it easier to buy mobile homes and condominiums.

Tax Rebate Not To Halt Eligibility For Food Stamps

The U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) taday issued a telegram to the states saying that the income tax rebates and special payments will have no effect on the eligiblity of food stamp participants.

These rebates and payments were provided for in the Tax Reduction Act of 1975 which President Ford signed into law on March 29, 1975. The law provides refundson 1974 individual income taxes and a special $50 payment to recipients of social security, railroad retirement, and SSI benefits.

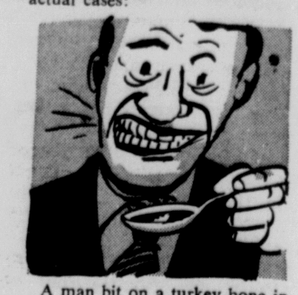
The Tax Reduction Act of 1975 requires that refunds and special payments shall not be counted as income or resources for purposes of determining eligibility or the amount of beneifts received under any federal assistance program.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Foreign Matter

Foreign matter in your food, like a pebble in a pie or a tack in a taco, is clearly good grounds for complaint. If you suffer injury, you are entitled to collect damages from whoever is to blame.

But the court may have a hard time deciding, in a particular situation, what matter is foreign and what is "natural." Take three actual cases:



A man bit on a turkey bone in a dish of roast turkey that he had ordered in a restaurant.

Another man encountered a hard grain of corn in a bowl of corn flakes.

A woman was injured by a chicken bone in chicken fricassee.

In each case a damage claim was filed by the victim. But each time, the claim was turned down because the item in question was not considered foreign. As the court in the turkey case put it:

"Bones which are natural to the type of meat served cannot legitimately be called a foreign substance, and a customer who eats meat dishes ought to be on his guard against the presence of such bones."

In recent years, however, courts have been putting less emphasis on what is natural and more emphasis on what a consumer might logically expect to find in his food.

Not long ago a man damaged a tooth by biting on the olive in his martini. The olive had not been pitted, although the usual hole in the end led him to think it had.

Of course, the pit was "natural" to the olive. Nevertheless a court ruled that the jury could reasonably reach a verdict in the man's favor.

"Because a substance is natural to a product in one stage of preparation," said the court, "does not mean necessarily that it will be reasonably anticipated by the consumer in the final product."

Consumer Market Report

Beef eaters should "jump" at low prices to replenish freezer supplies, one observer advises.

"Currently, farmers are selling off record numbers of cattle at low prices--often far less than it costs to raise them, but prices cannot stay so low indefinitely," Mrs. Gwendolyne Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System, cautioned.

"Best buys include sirloin and rib steaks, round steaks and roasts.

"Also, rib roasts, boneless roll roasts, chuck roasts and steaks, ground beef and liver," she added.

"In poultry sections, fryer chicken prices are higher, while grade A, large size eggs offer the best quality and economy for your egg money."

Pork specials are few, with scattered features on end chops, quarter loins cut into chops, pork seaks, and liver.

At fruit counters, strawberry supplies are short due to rain in some growing areas, and grapefruit prices are rising as supply diminishes, Mrs. Clyatt said.

"Orange prices are stable, and canteloupe is coming to market, but prices remain high.

"Good vegetable buys are cabbage, carrots, potatoes, turnips, cooking greens, and rutabagas."

CONSUMER WATCHWORDS

In chicken hens (for stewing), a three-to-six pound bird is usually the best choice.

Look for plump body with well-fleshed breast and thgihs, clean skin (free from abrasions or bruises) which is thick, firm, and slightly coarsened with fat well distributed under the skin for a light yellow cast.

Closet Uses Wasted Space

Customizing a closet may be the answer to the common complaint of "too much stuff and no place to put it." First step is to determine what goes into the closet, then match the space efficiently.

Measuring items and then building compartments and shelves of western lumber so there is a place for everything with minimum waste space will take care of an amazing amount of excess items.

Moving rods to varying heights so that hanging clothes come flush to a shelf or cabinet top does away with wasted air space.

Teachers Plan Rally For School Supporters

AUSTIN

A giant-size rally of public school supporters is scheduled for Saturday, April 26, in Austin under sponsorship of the TexasState Teachers Association.

Callie W. Smith, executive secretary of TSTA, said, "We hope to have the largest group of teachers and other education supporters ever assembled in Austin."

Location for the rally has not been determined, but will be announced soon.

Laymen, state officials, and teachers will speak at the rally, scheduled to start at 2 p.m. Teachers, parents, and other citizens will be on hand.

"We see this as an orderly expression of deep concern by citizens for education's needs," Smith emphasized.

The Texas Legislature now is considering several bills dealing with reform of school financing as well as program improvements.

The Austin Association of Teachers, local TSTA affiliate, is coordinating local plans under leadership of AAT Pres. Betty Medlock. Groups from all parts of the state already have chartered buses to bring supporters to Austin.

A number of legislators have indicated that they will keep their offices open on April 26--despite their usual weekend recess--so they may visit with constituents attending the rally.

Rugged riding mower for your lawn.

The value is in the way Massey builds it.

Take a look at durability, in the new riding mowers from Massey-Ferguson. Heavy gauge steel fenders and body panels... electro-welded unitized frame... forged steel front axles... all the features you want in the machine you put your money on.

And Massey designs for safety, too. Engine can't be started unless brake is locked and mower clutch is in "OFF" position. Additional safety switch prevents operation when operator is not on the seat. Mower discharge chute has deflector for ground debris.

For year round versatility, you'll want the optional snow blade, grass/leaf catcher, and dump cart.

Dutch police and international narcotics agents are trying to break a "Dutch connection," masterminded by Chinese immigrants in Holland who are sumggling in vastly increasing amounts of heroin, most of it destined for other countries. The traffickers, taking advantage of liberal Dutch narcotic laws and lack of specialized police, are using Holland's cities and ports as transit points.

Director John Huston sits proudly controlling a vast film set in the bleak foothills of Morocco's high Atlas mountains because at last he is making the picture he has wanted to do for more than 20 years. The film is called "The Man Who Would Be King" and stars Sean Connery and Michael Caine. It is based on Rudyard Kipling's classic, which T. S. Eliot and Ernest Hemingway are on record as describing as the finest short story ever written.

EAST BERLIN

East Germany's most popular rock group--the Puhdys--has come under official fire for its strange garb, its agressive rhythm and its alleged mysterious show effects. The Leipzig local communist party newspaper complained of its strange mixture of frogman and science fiction costume and its over-dimensional decibel count. The communists want to harness this power and prevent any ideological slide into freewheeling excesses of the western beat world.

MADRID

Nudity is now allowed in Spanish films--but the censor will still cut pornography. And public display of a nude painting such as Goya's masterpiece the "Naked Maja" can bring angry reprimand from a policeman. Contradictions like this occur as Spain emerges from isolation, scraps some age-old taboos and tries to attune its outlook to that of the rest of Europe.

CARACAS

Venezuela is putting its oil revenues to work through a huge investment fund aimed at changing the structure of its society and, paradoxically, reducing its dependence on petroleum. There were three billion dollars in the fund at the end of last year, and from now on half the country's petroleum earnings will be funneled into it. The country can now go ahead with projects beyond the reach of most other South American countries.

CAIRO

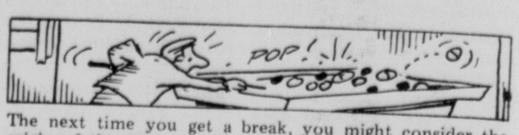
Egypt's supreme state security court will soon pronouce judgment on 74 men facing possible death sentences for alleged complicity in a plot to overthrow President Anwar Sadat last April. Government prosecutors say the men, among a total of 92 people standing trial, are Moslem fanatics who sought to destroy the government and turn Egypt into a strictly religious Islamic state.

SEOUL

An air of political uncertainty still hangs over South Korea, although President Park Chung-Hee appears to have won the latest round over his critics with a decision by the Roman Catholic hierarchy to stay outside politics. Christian clergy have been among the president's severest critics in recent months, with a number of junior and some senior churchmen condemning government efforts to stifle dissent in the country.

ROME

After days of street fighting between political extremists and the police, often marked by gunfire, Italy's politicians have decided to hold a top-level meeting to discuss public order. A neo-fascist Greek student shot in the head was killed, several policeman in hospital with bullet wounds bands of rightists roaming the street, and beating upanyone that looks like a leftist--these are some of the facts that have finally moved the politicians to act.



The next time you get a break, you might consider the origin of the word, which comes from the poolroom. At the start of a game, the balls are racked up in triangular formation. The first player "breaks," and a good break means he pockets some of the balls, a bad one means he pockets none.

Annual Report...Cameron Urban Renewal Agency 1974

The Mall Is Pictured Here In Its First Dress For Spring

Mall Dedication Highlights 1974

The dream of so many Citizens of Cameron became a reality when the Mall was dedicated June 7, 1974. The participation of so many clubs and citizens helped to make the day a success. Some of these included the Yoe High Band with Mr. Jerry Bartley, Boy Scouts of America, Church Choirs of Cameron with Mrs. T. D. Corley and Mrs. Hilliard Thomas, Fleur-de-lis Garden Club, Folk Fete Committee, Chamber of Commerce, Community leaders, and Washington and State dignitaries.

A Coffee and Open House was hosted by the Urban Renewal Board and Staff families following the dedication at the Cameron Pubtic Library. The dedication was the culmination of participation by all merchants and citizens involved.

Citizens National Bank Announces Plans

On April 1, 1975, Mr. Goodhue Smith, Chairman of the Board of Directors, and Mr. John Davis, President of the Citizens National Bank informed the Agency of their extensive plans to remodel the bank and to remain as part of the downtown business community. This was welcomed news to all of Cameron.

Cameron's Sales Tax Increase

Cameron continues to enjoy an increase in the 1% Sales Tax which comes back to the City to help in providing services and many needed facilities for the City. Also both banks show substantial increase in deposits which we feel reflects the continued growth of our area.

The flags which have flown over the Mall the past year have had an interesting history. The United States flag flew over the Nation's Capital and the Texas flag flew over the State's Capital. These flags will be retired and placed in the museum.

LETTER TO THE MAYOR

April 1, 1975

The Honorable Gene F. Blake
Mayor of Cameron
Honorable Councilmer.
Cameron, Texas

Gentlem n:

I am pleased to submit to you and the City of Cameron a report of progress and accomplishment this year in the Urban Renewal Program. We are in addition listing in the report work accomplished by the Community Development Agency and the City of Cameron.

The accomplishments have been possible by continued cooperation we have received from the members of the Department of Housing and Urban Development, Mayor Blake and members of the Council and Urban Renewal Board. We are appreciative of the many committees working with the Agency in planning for Cameron's future: especially, the Planning Commission composed of thirty dedicated Citizens working many hours and attending many meetings. We feel we owe to the Chamber of Commerce, its officers and Manager, Mrs. Gene Smitherman a 'thank you' for a job well done in the Dedication of our Mall in June, 1974. The Press Conference, the Bus Tour and the wonderful job of publicity they did for our Program and the City of Cameron.

We feel with the continued cooperation of all Citizens, Clubs, Civic Groups, Chamber of Commerce, the Industrial Foundation, Mayor Blake and City Officials Cameron will move out to a new and better future as I feel we stand on the threshold of a better tomorrow. The Agency Staff and Urban Renewal Board members want to express appreciation to all Citizens and hope to continue to merit your cooperation as together we build Cameron.

Respectfully submitted
Urban Renewal Agency
Mildred Thornton
Chairman of the Board

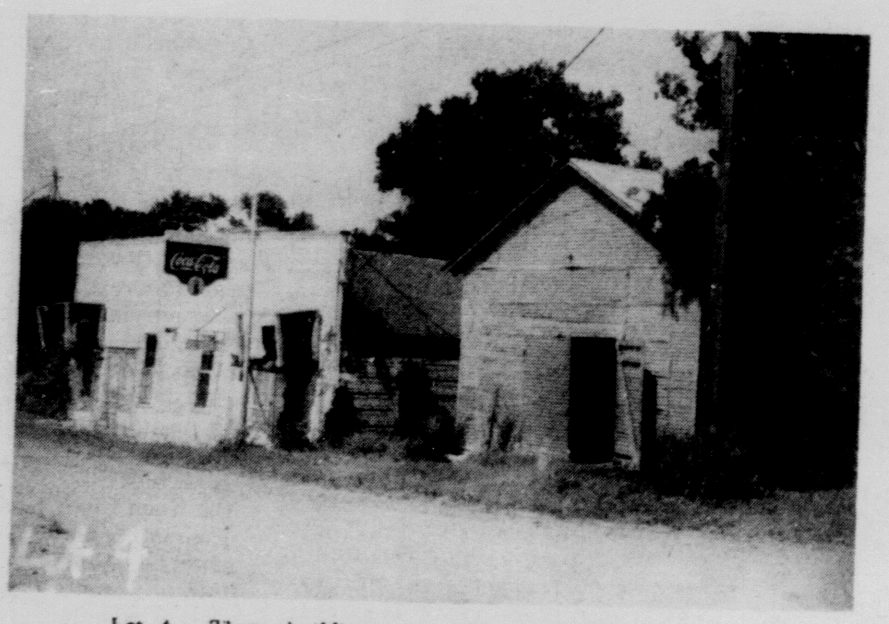
Benefit Concert Held

The Women's Auxiliary of the Chamber of Commerce sponsored Danny Kelley in concert at the National Guard Armory in Cameron on April 1, 1975. The proceeds from the Concert was $500.00 which will be used for playground equipment in the Park to be located in the area of O. J. Thomas Junior High School. At the concert Mrs. O. J. Thomas made a personal contribution of $500.00 for drinking fountains to be installed in the playground in honor of her husband. The hard work by the Women's Auxiliary and the generosity of Mr. & Mrs. Thomas are typical of the people who are proud of the City of Cameron and want to be a part of its growth.



Lot 4. These buildings were also removed from the extended area. None of these buildings to be replaced.

Urban Renewal Staff

The Urban Renewal Agency's staff consists of the Executive Director, A. W. McCullin, Sr.; the Relocation--Rehabilitation Officer, A. E. Matula; Bookkeeper-Secretary, Mrs. Roman Lehnert; and part time Secretary, Mrs. Marvin Young Jr. Everyone at the Urban Renewal Agency hopes Cameron continues to prosper and be the "Gateway to Country Sunshine" in Central Texas.

The preparation of this report was financed through a federal loan and grant from the Department of Housing and Urban Development under the provisions of Title I of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended

CITY APPROVES COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM

Under the Community Development Act which will replace all present programs such as Urban Renewal, Cameron will receive funds in the amount of $505,000 on the basis of previous programs which will be covering a five year period. for the first action year $136,000 has been allocated, $123,000 for the second and third years, $82,000 for the fourth year and $41,000 for the fifth year. The sixth year will be a year of wrapping up these programs and at this time no funds are available.

Town Hall Meetings have been held to explain the City's Community Development Plan. The No. 1 thrust for the first year will be providing a sewer system in the Alabama Section of Cameron, replacing outhouses and septic tanks. Work not completed in the first year will be carried over into the next two years.

The first years thrust in Playgrounds will be to provide a playground area between 6th and 8th Streets in the West part of Cameron adjoining the O. J. Thomas Junior High School. This park will be available not only to the Community but for use by the school providing much needed recreational area. Installing the playground in this area will make it possible to do some drainage, remove substandard housing and provide some needed street improvements

The thrust for housing will be to remove delapidated and burned-out houses with the goal of twenty-five houses each year for the first three years and completing the project in the fourth, fifth, and sixth years. Under this Plan a Housing Survey was completed in December, 1974, reflecting 201 houses as substandard, beyond repair and needing to be removed. The Housing Program will tie into the Farmer's Home Administration program which has done an outstanding job in Cameron in providing new homes in the low and medium income families. Since October, 1968, over sixty new homes have been provided by the Farmer's Home Administration in our City at a total cost of $907,470.00 . Our Agency feels that the removal of substandard housing and leveling of the lots and providing locations for new houses will be the most effective way in reaching our goal for housing so badly needed in Cameron.

The Urban Renewal Staff has spent many hours researching records and developing information for Cameron's application for Community Development funding. It has been necessary to study the short range as well as the long range needs of Cameron as recommended by the Master Plan and the Planning Commission of the City of Cameron. This application has been submitted and approved by the Central Texas Area of Governments and the Department of Planning and Community Development of the State of Texas. At the present time it is under review by the Department of Housing and Urban Development in Dallas.

THE CITY OF CAMERON MOVES AHEAD!

The City of Cameron has put the Revenue Sharing Funds to good use in the past year. Among some of the new purchases and improvements are: a tractor and shredder, fire truck and equipment, three dump trucks, a John Deere Front End Loader, brush truck, motorized street sweeper, twenty 6-inch fire plugs installed, 10-inch waterline to the pump station to the downtown loop (600 ft.), street signs, curb & gutter construction forms, an air compressor with air tools, posting machine in the City Office, up-dated code enforcement program, curb & gutter with pavement of approximately twelve blocks of downtown streets adjoining the Urban Renewal Project, updated Cameron Housing Project operation, improved Community Center operation and programs for the aged, assistance in support of Day Care Center and Public Library, and equipment and personnel in the Cameron Police Department. The City of Cameron has also authorized Cason & Associates of Waco to prepare a study and street plans and drainage for Green Addition. These plans have been received so that this work can progress. The City has also hired Cason to complete drainage program for the Northeast and central section of Cameron. The City Park has been renovated. Curb and gutter has been installed around the East and West sides of the Park. The trees have been trimmed and barbecue grills, picnic tables and benches have been assembled for the area. The Arts and Service League of Cameron has raised $500.00 for equipment in the Playground and this has been installed. Approximately $600,000.00 has been spent by the City in the last two years for street improvements. The City has also been cooperating with the State Highway Department in a Program under Urban Streets and Thoroughfares. Cameron will possibly receive a Federal Grant under this Program to re-surface and seal streets which have been designated as thoroughfares and connectors.

These improvements have all been greatly needed in our City. They have been done for the safety and enjoyment of the Citizens of Cameron.

Buildings of Lot 2-1 and 1-3 were removed in the extended area. None of the buildings to be replaced.

URBAN RENEWAL PROJECT EXTENDED

On June 18, 1974 the City Council approved the extension of the Project Boundary in the Urban Renewal Program. The extension included three blocks--21, 22, & 23 -- in the vicinity of City Hall. The grant of $100,000 will be used to purchase the property and make improvements. The area will be used as a Junior Livestock Exposition Grounds, grounds for Junior Broiler Shows and Farmers Market as well as First Mondays. The area will provide parking for farm trucks and such equipment. It will provide a much needed service for our youth and rural citizens. Cameron is most fortunate in having a Chamber of Commerce as active in sponsoring the Youth Programs in the Community. We feel this is one of Cameron's best assets and look forward to the completion of this Program within a few months. It is hoped that when this area is drained, leveled and completed some type of exposition barn will be provided.

Bids were opened December 20, 1974 for construction in the Urban Renewal Program extension. Bandas Industries of Temple submitted the low bid of $73,608.85. The demolition contract was awarded to R. O. Currey, Currey House Moving Co. of Minerva. Approximately 90% of demolition and relocation work has been completed.

Mrs. Bob Ellett and Mrs. Don Humble assisted in selecting colors for the band stand and the playground equipment in City Park.

COOPERATION

The members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Chamber of Commerce have planted oleanders and crepe myrtles in the City Park in the library area.

COOPERATION

The Arts & Service League, in cooperation with the Community Development Agency and the City of Cameron, have purchased approximately $500.00 worth of playground equipment for the tot area in City Park, and this has been installed.

COOPERATION

The Noon Lions Club has appropriated $4,000.00 to be matched by the City of Cameron to drain, clean, and repair Ledbetter Lake and make improvements in the park.

COOPERATION

The Boy Scouts of Troop 52 Mr. Felix Matula, Scout Master, are working on Nature's Acre in Ledbetter Park. They are building trails throughout this area. Mr. Mann, of the Soil Conservation Service, is assisting the Scouts in identifying all plants and trees in the area. We are advised the Scouts will, also, build a cactus garden near the entrance.

New Business Located In Cameron

The Auditorium Hotel Lot on the Corner of Central and First Street sold to the C & D Construction Company of Waco. A building is under construction and the opening of a dress shop and offices is planned for June 1st. This completes the sale of all property in the Urban Renewal Project with the exception of two lots.

EASTER GUESTS--Robert Walker, 9, and sister, Tobith Ann Walker, 11, children of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Walker of Houston, spent Easter holidays in the home of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs.Robert T. Walker, 912 Calaveras. They visited their maternal grandmother, Mrs. Florence Markham, Cameron, enroute home. Robert and Tobith Ann spent 4 years in the Mid East with their parents in Tripoli, Libya before returning to the states last year. Leader Staff Photo.

DKG Continues Series On Educators

"Remember, I Never Promised You A Rose Garden" was the skit presented as the Beta Nu Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma met at the Allen house in Marlin, Saturday, April 5 for their regularly scheduled meeting.

The skit was program No. 4 in the series on "Women Educators: Professional Practitioners." Those presenting the skit were Mrs. Herbert Nance, chairman; Miss Ada Margaret Smith, and Mrs. Arnett Zelisko of Cameron; Mrs. Lillian Romain of Lott; and Mrs. Sidney Hughes of Marlin, all members of the Program Committee.

Mrs. Nance composed the skit which gave the "ups and downs" of women educators.

During the business session, Mrs. Nance reported that the Alpha State Program Committee chairman, Mrs. Carolyn Larrison, had written her a commendation of the chapter's yearbooks. Mrs. Herman Willi of Rosebud, chairman of the Beta Nu Membership Committee presented candidates for membership, and the chapter voted on them.

The chapter held a noon luncheon with the Marlin members as hostesses.

The next meeting is scheduled for May 3 at 2:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Roy Hensley of Cameron, president, with the Cameron members as hostesses. At this tea, Miss Frances Forbes of Marlin will give the annual Founders Day Program and Mrs. Arnett Zelisko of Cameron will furnish the music.

Garden Club Hears About Wildflowers

Color slides of Texas wildflowers highlighted the Fleur de lis Garden Club program "Designed By Nature" at the Cameron Public Library Tuesday evening.

Guest speakers Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lawrence of Hamilton shared their slides and knowledge of Texas wildflowers, identifying varieties of daisies, coneflowers, and asters seen along state roadsides.

The Lawrences pointed out that some of the wildflowers were valuable to early Texas settlers. The Mountain Pink (which is almost extinct in Texas today) is a quinine weed and was used as a fever medicine. Babies Breath was commonly called "Mattress Straw" because early pioneers used it to stuff mattresses.

They listed the Bluebell as Texas' most beautiful wildflower. The Bluebell (actually purple in color) blooms in clusters and is one of the few wildflowers that has a long life--2 to 3 weeks after cutting.

Many of the Texas wildflowers have German botanical names, the Lawrences noted, because German botanists were among the first to study and classify Texas wildflowers.

Dessert and coffee were served to about 50 club members and guests following the program. Hosteses for the meeting were Mrs. Ed Magre, Mrs. Lonnie Dodd, Mrs. Wilbert Lucko, and Mrs. Robert Schiller.

Comments From Chris

Do you plan to preserve some of your family food supply at home? Do you know how much you want to perserve? When should you start planning? A good time to start planning for fruits and vegetables is before the harvest season starts, whether you grow your own food or plan to buy it.

The Milam County Family Living Committee and the Milam County Extension Service is sponsoring a mail out series on Preserving Food at Home. This program is open to anyone in the county free of charge. Just call our office at 817-697-3382 in Cameron or come by the office, located in the second floor of the Citizens National Bank or drop us a card at P.O.Box 708, Cameron, TX 76520. Give us your name and complete mailing address and you are then enrolled. The series starts March 15.

First, consider the amount of freezer space you have whether it is a chest type, upright, or a part of your refrigerator. If your freezer space is limited you may want to preserve part of the food your family needs by canning. Consider the jars and other supplies which you have on hand. Will you need to purchase some new supplies? (Remember you can re-use undamaged jars and rings buy always replace used lids.)

Be ready for the season and preserve the foods at the peak of quality and when they are plentiful or lowest in price.

With good planning you can stretch your family food dollar by preserving some of your food at home and assuring your family of garden fresh foods the year round. This can help you provide your family with the needed food nutrients for good health.

Costs Will Rise 15%

This means that families with incomes under $20,000 may have to spend from 25 to 50 percent of their incomes for food.

To help famiies estimate the amount of foods they will need to buy to meet nutritional needs the U.S. Department of Agriculture has developed low, moderate, and liberal cost plans.

These plans provide diets consistent with food patterns that are typical of those of most groups of people in the U.S.

The liberal cost plan allows a greater variety of foods and considerably more animal products, fruits, and vegetables than either of the other two plans.

The moderate cost plan incldes larger quantities of meat, vegetables, and fru- than the low cost plan and allows more frequent purchases of the higher priced cuts of meat and out of season foods.

Compared with the moderate cost plan, the low cost plan calls for smaller amounts of most foods, especially milk, cheese, ice crem, meat, poultry and fish, fruits and vegetables other than potatoes, and bakery products.

It also calls for larger amounts of cereal, flour, and bread. Generally, users of the low cost plan are expected to select the lower cost foods within food groups--ground beef rather than steak.

TP&L customers want to know:

"How do rising fuel prices affect my electric bill?"

Texas Power & Light generating plants require enormous quantities of natural gas, lignite coal and, when deliveries of gas are curtailed, fuel oil, to produce electricity.

TP&L's 1974 fuel costs were more than double the costs in 1972, and will be more than $160,000,000 in 1975, 70% greater than in 1974.

Unlike most businesses, we cannot raise the basic price of electricity as the costs of producing it go up. Our rates are established and altered only by resolution or ordinance of City Councils. For this reason, TP&L, and virtually every electric company in the nation, has a fuel adjustment provision in its rates.

When TP&L's cost of boiler fuel exceeds 20 cents per million BTU's (the equivalent of 1,000 cubic feet of natural gas), the adjustment provision permits us to pass on to our customers the additional cost. We make no profit on the fuel.

Beginning this month, a notation on your electric bill will show what the per-kilowatt-hour fuel charge is for the month. Multiply this amount by the total number of kilowatt-hours on your bill and you have the fuel adjustment charge. Every customer pays the same fuel adjustment rate for each kilowatt-hour used.

"What is TP&L doing to offset rising fuel prices?"

To offset the rising prices of natural gas and fuel oil, TP&L is constructing large generating units which will use relatively low cost lignite coal. Two such units have been in operation since 1972. Eleven additional units are scheduled to be placed in service in the period from 1975 to 1982.

We want our customers to know why the fuel adjustment charge is necessary and how it affects the price of electric service.

In District Game

Westlake Nips Yoemen, 4-2

Westlake scored twice in the seventh inning to secure the district win Tuesday, 4-2. The Yoemen are now 12-5 for the year and 2-1 in district.

Westlake open the district game and tallied two runs to open their scoring attack. Walter McMilland took a base on balls. Mark Wetzel discharged the hard ball into orbit, the ball drifted over the right center field fence at the 310 foot mark.

The Yoemen went through their openning stanza without a score, but crossed the plate in the bottom half of the second.

Jeff Smitherman smashed a ground rule double followed by a sacrifice bunt by Ricky Kelley. Smitherman gained passage to third base.

Joey Mondrik unloaded from the batter box with another ground rule double that gained an RBI. by scoring Jeff Smitherman. Mondrik hit cleared the right field fence, but the UIL rule states the fence must be over 250 feet to score a home run. The Yoe field fence is just under the necessary footage.

Gene Kopriva knotched the score at 2 all when he crossed scoring territory, in the bottom of the sixth. Kopriva took a base on balls and was sacrificed to second by Randy Sapp. Kopriva tagged home plate via a hard hit single by Joe Smitherman.

With the score tied the Chaps unbagged the wood and signaled 2 winning runs across the plate.

Darryl Winstead singled his way to first base, but on cross-fire by Heitman was picked off. Gerry Heitman then walked the next two Chap batters, Walter McMilland and Tim Peterson.

Mark Wetzel lobbed a ball to shortstop and on a try for McMilland at second, Randy Sapp lost the handle and all runners were safe, to load the bases.

Heitman then walked the next batter and allowed a go-ahead Chap score. David Krowther slammed a sacrifice fly into right center to bring the fourth score across home plate.

The Yoemen, in their final inning, were unable to secure a third district win.

The Yoemen are presently hosting the Leander Lions in a district title here, Friday night. Due to press time the game story will be published in the Thursday edition of the Herald.

Eagelettes Top District Meet

The Rogers girls took command of the District 28-A track meet in Belton Thursday in all three divisions. It was a close victory for the Eaglettes, barely surpassing Pflugerville 146 1/2 to 142 in the varsity events.

MILAM AREA PARADE OF SPORTS

ONE OF THE MOST POPULAR fashions these days is the "His & Hers" fad--shirts, suits, towels, etc. Well, there's not a "His & Hers" thing going here, as one can plainly see, but there is a "His & Hers." If you will look closely you will note that the shirt of Edwin (Bubby) Kohutek almost perfectly matches the face of old "Freckles," one of the better bulls in the Rockdale Rodeo circuit. They say that normally bulls are not too good in the air but old Freckles seems to use his for that extra burst of energy.

The Lonely Heart

GREAT SCOT!

By Jack House, The Director
Teacher's Scotch Information Centre

THE LAND O' CAKES

Robert Burns called Scotland, among other things, "the Land o' Cakes." He knew what he was talking about, because Scottish housewives have been renowned for their baking for centuries. Today Scottish shortbread goes (in special tins) all over the world, but there are a number of baking goodies which can be eaten only in Scotland, fresh from the oven.

A famous Scottish housewife-baker was Mrs. Macnab, the wife of a farmer who lived near the village of Ballater in the Highlands in the time of Queen Victoria. She was such a famous baker that King Frederick of Prussia and other noble guests at Balmoral Castle went from the Queen's Highland home to the modest farm in order to have tea with Mrs. Macnab and taste her scones.

A scone (pronounced "scawn" in Scotland) is baked from flour, baking soda, salt and milk of water. It is eaten with fresh butter and/or marmalade, though home-made jam is also acceptable.

Black Bun is another peculiar production of Scottish baking. It is a very rich cake made with all sorts of fruit and nuts, with whisky, rum or brandy added. So much fruit is used that the inside is actually black.

Teacher's Scotch Information Service is far too modest to say which of the liquid additives is the best, but you can have one guess!
